Synopsis:

Click Colours

Upon completion of the Click! Colours Interactive Workshop, participants will have powerful new insights into human behaviour that enable stronger relationships, communication, and teamwork.

By understanding different thinking and behavioural styles, workshop attendees can boost collaboration, optimize diverse teams, resolve or prevent conflicts, motivate staff, and mould groups into high-performing units.

With practical tools to comprehend interactions, make decisions, and leverage diversity, participants can drive individual and collective success.

Ultimately, the workshop delivers the knowledge and skills to click with anyone, transforming workplace relationships and results.

Click Colours introduction:

- A fun one hour overview of Click Colours that explores their meaning to individuals and how they can be applied to improve communication and interaction with others.

Click Colours workshops:

- An additional one or two-hour workshop that supplements the Click Colours introduction.
- These workshops include activities for participants to explore the application of Click Colours in various settings, e.g. Customer Service, Innovation, Team Meetings, and Projects.
- These are usually run in conjunction with the Introduction to make a 2 or 3-hour session.

In the workshop you will learn:

- How and why people build relationships, make decisions and communicate.
- How people view the actions of others in a team.
- Why some people's behaviour can drive others crazy.
- How you are perceived by others.
- How to get along with people who are not like you.
- How to optimise relationships within a team.
- How to motivate team members to achieve peak performance.
- How to mould different individual styles into a strong and high performing team.
